This is the first meeting of the provisional workshop committee for the planning of the U.S. National Academies workshop on the role of crop agriculture practices on development of antimicrobial resistant fungi with importance in human health. Zoom log-in information is now added below.

We understand that it is difficult to find a meeting time that works for all and will try to accommodate everyone's schedule as much as possible. The next committee meeting will be on Wed, March 30 at 1 PM EDT (7 PM CEST, 6 PM BST).

Tentative agenda for the first meeting on Mar 23:

- Quick introductions around the Zoom room
- Brief overview of workshop planning process, staff and volunteer roles, and answer any questions
- Discussion and reactions to the workshop statement of task and strawman agenda

The strawman agenda was drafted by the staff based on the workshop statement of task and incorporated some input from our individual calls prior to this meeting. We welcome everyone's input and suggestions to make any changes on this strawman workshop agenda, including tearing this down and starting over if necessary. Please note also that due to a health condition, Sally Miller will not communicate verbally and will use emails and the chat function in zoom.
